HISTORY

THE WORLD'S MOST VERSATILE COMMERCIAL VEHICLES FOR THE PAST SEVEN DECADES

Its three wheels have plied the world's road since the end of the Second World War, carrying all sorts of cargo. Ape represents one of the most significant chapters in the history of urban mobility and commercial transport. A one of a kind vehicle which, with its unmistakable silhouette, has become a transport icon. Ape is a part of Italian history, a product of the genius of the aeronautical engineer Corradino D'Ascanio and the far sighted vision of Enrico Piaggio. Light, agile and versatile, it has evolved over the decades without losing its unmistakable physiognomy, from the apé A, created with the Italian post-war reconstruction in full swing, which accompanied the nation through the economic boom to the futuristic 5-wheeled Ape Pentarò from the 1960s and the Ape Car, the undisputed queen of the 1970s. These were followed by Ape TM designed in 1982 by Giorgetto Giugiaro and today's version such as the new product range.
